St. Louis Storm.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 28.—The full extent of the damage wrought by last nights hurricans was not known until daylight, when wreck and ruin were apparent on all sides. Steeples were blown from churches and adjoining buildings were crushed, houses were unroofed, trees broken off and in some cases torn up by the roots, while the havoc caused by the heavy rain fall of last week was repeated. Summed up at 9 o'clock this morning, with many outlying districts to hear from, the result was two lives lost, thirty-six injured, many, it is feared fatally, and property damaged to the extent of $100,000.

The list of killed and injured as far as reported is ac follows:

Dead—Jacob Affelter, aged 25, instantly killed on Greenfield avenue by a falling fence; John Figus, aged 22, skull crushed by falling tree at Sugar Camp Grove.

Injured—Abner Hayes, freight receiver, struck by lightning; may recover.

Mrs. Thompson of Carbon Alley, struck by falling chimney.

Unknown stable boy, blown against a cart at Twenty-second street and Pennsylvania; two ribs broken.

Three meterological records were knocked out yesterday. It was in the first place, the hottest day of the year, the thermometer at 4 O'clock being 93 degrees, the maximum point.

The rainfall for six minutes beats all records in the local weather bureau, which extend back 28 years. From 4:30 to 4:36 over a third of an inch of rain fell into the gauge on the roof of the Government building.

The other record broken was a cold wave which passed over the city during the storm. The registering thermometer in the Weather Bureau showed that in forty-five minutes the temperature fell from 90 deg. to 71, and then went back to 84. Had it not been that the slightest change is registered in ink, this phenomena would not have been noticed. The sudden change to a large extent caused a terrible electric display that continued without intermission until midnight. Up to 9 o'clock the rainfall was 1.42 inches, and as the ground is thoroughly soaked, all of it will reach the rivers and the flood of Saturday will, in all probability, be repeated.

The approach of the storm was heralded by black clouds, that turned daylight into darkness. There was a constant roll of terrifying thunder and incessant flashes of viwid lightning that gave warning to pedestrains to seek places of safety. The wind rose to a gale as the rain began to fall, and then the hurricane came on with a roar, driving the rain in solid sheets before it. In an instant the streets in many parts of the city were filled with flying branches of trees, tin roofs were lifted from houses and sent whirling over chimney tops, knocking them down like tenpins, and signs and fences and trees fell.

For a little over a minute the hurricane blew at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and then decreased to twenty-four m.les and then ceased. The thunder and lightning, however, kept up a terrifying display, while the rain continued to pour down for an hour. After an hour of low murmuring thunder and sheet lightning, the storm broke out again, but the force of it seemed to be in the country districts back of the South Side hils, and reports coming in at a late hour contained the information that much damage had been done by the lightning and an exceptionally heavy downpour of rain.

At Braddock hail added to the damage, and when the hurricane reached Turtie Creek, at assumed the awful proportions of a lione, doing untold damage. In the old if a dericks were blown down, particularly in O'Hara Township. Sewickley Cor blis, Bellevue and McKee's .Rocks suffeed severely. In Millvals and Sharpsburg hail caused havoc and glasiers will be busy for several days.

Col. Frank Ridgeway, the local forecast official, was at his dask when the first storm cloud darkened the sky. He said last night that he had never seen a more perfect cyclone formation in the clouds, and that the city was not visited with a cyclone worse than that at St. Louis is due to the intervening nills. The circular movement of the wind was broken in the lower strata or cise there would have been a path plowed through Pittsburg and Allegheny several blocks wide.

TOKENS OF LUCK.

Mr. Bryan Receives More Rabbit Feet, a Horseshoe and Love Birds.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 28.—The stream of visitors to the Bryan home seem to be on the increase. Two of the delegates from Nevada to the St. Louis silver convention, Messrs. Nixon and Davis, en route home, stopped off here to consult with Mr. Bryan, doubtless upon his probable course in relation to the Populist nomination. Mr. Bryan has received a number of telegrams containing suggestions in regard to the action of the Populist convention, and to all of them he responded, in effect, that he will act with deliberation, and that nothing will be done which can be justify criticised by any of the elements who are sincerely interested in the success of the cause of bimetallism.

When the Populist National Convention last Saturday passed a resolution giving to the National Committee plenary power to act in all matters for, the convention its full scope was not understood by many of the delegates.

They thought that it was merely the cus tomary resolution giving the committee authority to fill vacancies in its own body. ever, and they passed it so that the Popu-

As the scope of the resolution was later explained to the rank and file, they were fully satisfied. As a master of fact, through the adoption of this resolution, the Populist National Committee is in a better position than either the Democratic or the National Silver Committee.

No phase of the campaign which is to open soon can prove too knotty for the committee which Senator Butler heads. If there should develop any condition which required heroic measures, the committee would have ample authority to act in the premises.

"It would appear that the Populist National Convention was wiser than either the Democratic or National Silver Convention," said Dr. J. Mott, former chairman of the National Silver Convention, said Dr. J. Mott, former chairman of the National Silver Committee.

"The other two conventions should have adopted similar resolutions.

George F. Washburn, member of the Populist Executive Committee from Massachusetts, said Tuesday that the resolution adopted left with the National Committee absolute authority to act on any question within the scope of the convention itself. There was no desire, he said, on the part of the committee to transcend its authority to do anything, and as this authority was now vested in the National Committee, it was hard to draw a line:

Another member of the National Executive Committee put the matter in more exact language.

"The Popu'st Committee," he said, "has power to fill Tom Watson's place on the ticket, should he deem it advisable not to run; it could put Sewall in his place, and the transfer would be as binding on the Populists as though such action were taken by the convention itself; it could suggest to the Notification Committee the manifest to the Notification Committee the manifest to the Notification Committee the manifest propriety of not embarrassing William J. Brown gives out to-day for the first time his standing. From these it appears Col. Brown leads in the race for Auditor, and will be nominated not later than the second ballot, and possibly on the first. He has instructed and pledged for him over 200 votes, every one of which is of the taying variety. No other candidate is within reach of him at present, and every day his lead grows longer. Within the past week the strong Democratic counties of Lafayette, Boone, Cass, Bates and Clinton have arrayed themselves under the Brownstandard, and at his headquarters here the feeling is uppermost that his nomination is assured.

CONVICTS AS ROAD BUILDERS.

WOULD IMPERIL PUBLIC PEACE.

Some Facts and Figures Regarding the Employment of Convicts in the Missouri Penitentiary.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 28.—There is a declaration in the Republican platform of this State in favor of working convicts on the public highways and condemning the contract system that has been in vogue for many years at the penitentiary. It is not likely that a dozen of the delegates who voted for the platform were aware of the condition of affairs actually existing at the penitentiary; the number of convicts employed under the contract system; how much the product of their labor competes much the product of their labor col with the product of outside labor, approximate enormous cost the State wo incur in undertaking to utilize convict is on the public highways. SEDALIA, Mo., July 28.—Mart Crawford, a widower, 38 years old, employed as a section foreman on the Missouri Pacific, was lynched a few miles from Tipton, Moniteau County, last evening. He was arrested at Tipton charged with attempted assault upon Miss Mary Tuckley, 16 years old, who arrived at Tipton from Kansas City, last Saturday. The girl was en route to Versailles, Morgan County, the home of Crawford, and consented to accompany him to that place in a private conveyance. The assault was attempted a few miles from Versailles. The meeting of two men in the road alone prevented Crawford succeeding. Crawford escaped, but was arrested Sunday night at Tipton. Sheriff Lumpee started for Versailles with the prisoner, but was met by an unmasked mob, who took Crawford from him and hanged him to a tree.

ENDED IN BLOODSHED.

The Domestic Troubles of Wm. Lehmaier and His Wife.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The domestic troubles of William Lehmaier and his wife, which have been before the public at intervals during the last six weeks, culminated to-day in a shooting affray which will probably result in Lehmaier's death. Mrs. Lehmaier says that Charles A. Johnson, who did the shooting, is her brother. Lehmaier says that the man is Mrs. Lehmaier's death, Mrs. Lehmaier's death, Mrs. Lehmaier's death, Mrs. Lehmaier's death, Mrs. Lehmaier's syst that the man is Mrs. Lehmaier's the contractors were not paying enough for the labor of the convicts, and he said so very plainly every time the occasion demanded an expression of his views. But all wardens since the administration of Col. J. R. Willis, who inaugurated the present contract system, have held to the opinion that the only way to successfully utilise the theory of convicts is are employed and this is not far from an average. So, as a matter of fact, less than half the men and none of the women convicts are employed under the contract habor of seath convicts, and freeds, clothes, doctors and suited the convicts, and freeds, clothes, doctors and suited the convicts, and furnishes gu wardens since the administration of Col. J. R. Willis, who inaugurated the present contract system, have held to the opinion that the only, way to successfully utilize the labor of convicts is within the prison walls. The Board of Prison Irspectors have also indorsed this theory repeatedly, and all condemn the plan of working convicts on the public highways as impracticable.

Few people have any idea of the magnitude of the Missouri Fenitentiary. It is the largest institution of the ki d in the United States, and some say in the world. The plant itself is worth probably $1,500,000. Other more populous States have two or more prisons, while Missouri has but one. It requires about 110 State employes to guard and manage the prison, and the payroll on this account is about $5,500 per month. Everything that high and strong wails and steel bars can accomplish towards lessening the necessary number of guards has been resorted to, and no one familiar with the institution doubts that the strictest economy is practiced, but nevertheless, the actual cost incurred by the State for each convict is about 30 cents per day. This, of course, is a general average, barring small fractions.

No one has yet offered any estimats as to the probable cost of such a change in the mode of employing convicts as the Republican party of this State has indorsed. That it would be enormous, no one familiar with the prison doubts. An experienced guard inside the walls of the prison can keep from 25 to 50 convicts under control. This is due solely to the fact that the walls are guarded and escape is practically impossible. It would certainly require five times as many guards to keep the convicts under control if they were employed on the public highways, and even then prison men say escapes and insurrections would be frequent. It may be safely said that with the added cost of stockades, guards, transportation, etc., it would cost the State 200,000 a year to employ the convicts on the public highways. The actual cost now to the tax-payers of the State is some 21,500 a year. The earnings at present amount to an average of 850 a day, or $13,000 a month. All this, of course, would be lost, and the prison itself, with all its costly buildings and immense power plant, would be practically useless. There would be in the neighborhood of 19 convicts for each county, should they be so parceled out, and the coet of working these felons would be more than would employ honest labor, to say nothing of the trouble their presence in the rural districts would occasion.

During the time Col. J. R. Willis, now a resident of St. Louis, was Warden of the penitentiary (from 1871 to 1885), the State leased a large farm in Callaway County, just across the Misseuri River and nearly opposite the penitentiary. A small number of the best class and least offensive convicts were put to work on this farm raising vegetables and other products for the use of the prison. Although guarded by experienced men, yet they managed to commit many depredations in the neighborhood, and the women and children finally became so terrorised that the farmers are convicts unless they were at once removed back to the penisentiary. And their threat, the prison officials generally admit that contract system is not all it should be that it would be better if the convicts id be employed in some capacity where product of their labor would not come contact with honest labor. No one, hower, has been able to offer a satisfactory stitute. Ex-State Auditor John Walk-conce advocated the employment of all e-bodied convicts in the manufacture school furniture and shoes and clothing paupers and the indigent insane, but at time convict contract labor was not dilous to the labor unions as at present, his suggestion was never seriously constraint.

and his sugestion was never seriously considered.

The trouble in this State all along in dealing with convict labor has been that members of the Legislature, with very few exceptions, knew nothing about the subject, and would not go to L.e. trouble of informing themselves. There have anever been sufficient shop buildings provided to employ all the convicts, even if contractors were ever so ready to employ them. Today there are 500 idle convicts in the penientiary, because Warden Pace has no piace to employ them, and 550 are engaged in putting up a new cell building, 200x55 feet, and in various State work, such as making brick, dressing atone, repairs, etc. There is no possible show for healthy competition in leasing convict labor, even if such a thing existed, which it seems does not. But of all the plans that have ever been sugested for employing convict labor, none is regarded by those who have studied the subject as so foolish as the attempt to scatter them all over the State and work them on the public highways.

combined rush for the doors of the hall, overturned the doorkeeper and poured into the galleries in spite of all opposition. This caused a repetition of the exciting and stormy scene of yesterday. Tom Mann and James Kier Hardie, the English labor leaders, spoke in favor of at least admitting Herr Hyndman. Their remarks were wildly applauded by the anarchists.

Other English labor leaders made speeches against admitting the Anarchists. This brought forth a storm of disapproval from the latter, during which a few blows and many angry words were exchanged among the foreigners, who could hardly be prevented by the more peaceful men from engaging in a general free fight.

Eventually orders were given to put out the disturbers of the peace, and when some show of so doing was made, something like order was once more restored and the debate was resumed.

After further speeches for and against the admission of Anarchists it was agreed that properly accredited Anarchists, including Louise Michel, should be permitted to be present at the debate. After several hours of additional discussion the congress, voting by nationalities, upheld the Zurich resolution by 18½ to 2½, the effect of which is to exclude Anarchists from the congress.

During the voting there was another scene of the greatest excitement. Flerce shouting and yelling, mingled with scuffling and threatening, prevalled among the foreigners and probably served as much as anything else to harden the hearts of the Englishmen against admitting the Anarchist element to the deliberations of the International Socialist and Trades Union Congress.

go to the Work-house for the rest of her life than to let her husband know of her plight.

The night the house was raided four women were locked up at the Third District Police Station. Two of them were colored. They ran the "hotel," and the other two were white women. The latter were charged with being inmates of a house of ill-fame. One of the white women gave her name as Neule Clark. She was crying and taking on terribly. It was evident that she had never been arrested before, while her companion was calm, showing she had had police experience.

Statesman Jim Cronin secured the release of the women on bond.

Monday morning the cases came up in the Second District Police Court. Col. Nat Dryden had been retained to defend Nelle Clark. A change of venue was taken to the First District Court, and when the case was called for trial before Judge Peabody Col. Dryden asked for a continuance, but could not get it until the mysterious woman came forward and whispered her story into Attorney Eggers' ear.

Nellie Clark, as she is known, is a rather portly woman, but of good figure, apparently about 32 years old and dresses exceptionally well. In court she wore a pretty white sailor hat, a shirt waist of whits and blue stripes and a brown plaid skirt. She wears pretty tan shoes, with the Tokio tip.

But he has to work every night and I was so lonesome and I just went out for that once and we were arrested. But they didn't arrest the man I was with. Thay let him go."

After Nellie had continued with her story for fifteen minutes Attorney Eggers consented to continue her case to Aug. 4.

Several years ago the deceased was stricken with gradual paralysis, and dur-other daughters and the widow survive the deceased.

Considerable property is left by the deceased. At the residence on South Ewing avenue is perhaps the finest collection of old and rare books in the West. The deceased was a man of attainments and, while not a bibliophile in the strict sense of the word, it was his delight to acquire literary rarities and art treasures. The walls of his late home are lined, from cellar to garret, with rare books and valuable paintings. The collection of books includes ancient and rare editions of standard works and among them are a number dated prior to the invention of printing. They are on vellum and parchment, and in many of them the saints' days are illuminated with protures of the saints, and inlaid with hammered gold.

Of late years the collection became so extensive that the deceased had printed a catalogue, making a book the size of a volume of the Missouri Session Acts.

For many years the deceased was Treasurer of the Mercantile Club, and the success of that institution has been due in great part to his efforts and the successful management of the club's finances.

Mr. Gilbert was exacting in all his business dealings, but ilberal and among the most charitable of men to those in need. His domestic life was exceedingly happy.

The funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, at the house on Ewing avenue. The remains were cremated.

Electric Light and Power Company, appeared before the board and said he wanted to present a petition on the part of the companies, stating that a great many wrong statements had been made concerning the manner the work had been done. Many of these statements, he said, had been made by the representative of the company who was not then in a position to know just what he was talking about.

Mr. Thompson wanted to have the matter reopened, so that the companies might present their contracts for material, etc., to show that they are doing the best that can be done.

The application of Mr. Thompson was not acted upon immediately, as the board wanted the advice of the City Counselor.

The architect for the Holland Building Co. presented a rather peculiar sewer case. He said that the company had started to build a new sewer for the building on Seventh and Olive streets near the southeast corner. A permit was ssued for an excavation and the work commenced. Then the owner of the Brownell property protested because of danger to foundations, etc., so the permit was revoked. Now the company has a permit for a sewer, but no permit to dig a hole for it. It is against the law to go through another building, and in fact, any plan the company can suggest seems to be against the law. The matter was referred to a special committee for solution.

An ordinance was passed and recommended providing for the paving of Twelfth street, from Market to St. Charles, with asphaltum.

The ordinance meets with the approval of the board and the property owners abutting on the street, but the attitude of the Assembly toward the matter is not known. The measure is one of moment inasmuch as it deals with one of the most important streets in the city and will cost the property owners abutting on the street, but the attitude of the Assembly toward the matter is not known.

"KNIFING."

While nominally supporting the Democratic ticket in its editorial columns, the Republic is day by day in its news columns doing what it can to discredit it. In this morning's issue, for example, through an apparent leak in the local Western Union Telegraph office, it publishes, with comments, what purport to be private telegrams exchanged between Senator Jones, Gov. Stone and Mr. Bryan, relative to Mr. Bryan's nomination by the Populist Convention. The comments show the animus. Take this, for example:

Senator Allen's positive denial, when cate-chized by Stump Ashby of Texas, that there was any telegram from Mr. Bryan on the speaker's stand led the delegates to believe that the rumor that Mr. Bryan had sent a second declination was untrue. Otherwise the result might have been far dif-

And this: It was said that the wire over which the conference between Mr. Bryan and Senator Jones was carried on was leased for the time, but to one who understands how such deals are generally made it would appear more reasonable to say that the service rendered was compilmentary. The same is ering at Chicago of bolting Democrats probably true of the conference between Mr.

ARE SILVER DOLLARS LEGAL TENDERP

The act of 1873 destroyed silver as legal tender money except to the amount of $5. The Bland-Allison act of 1878 restored the legal tender character of the silver dollar "except when otherwise provided

The Bland-Allison act of 1878, while pro sumably restoring the legal tender character of the silver dollar, did not de so. No money can be effective as legal tender dividual citizen to nullify the act of Congress, and this the Bland-Allison act did.

It says silver dollars are legal tender "except when otherwise provided in the sanctions these gold bonds and notes. Hence, since then, nearly all bonds and have been taken payable in gold. A debtor has little to say as to what kind of a note he will sign, when borrowing money. The creditor dictates that, and the debtor is usually in no position to object. The Government has farmed out to the banks and money lenders the right to dictate what shall be the legal tender

The central point of attack on monometallism is that gold alone is redemption

The demonetization of silver consists its free and unlimited coinage. As the system. The closing of the mints to silver, by shutting off the unlimited de-mand for it as money and continuing the unlimited demand for gold, gave us mono metallism and destroyed bimetallism.

THEY KNOW SCARECROWS.

President Greene of the Connecticut Iutual Life Insurance Co. of Hartford Conn., has sent out a circular to policy holders, warning them that "should we come upon a sifver basis, your policies would, for the present, be paid in dollars worth to your families only about 50 cents, and the great bulk of them would probably be said to dellar them. by be paid in dollars worth not

Are there no asylums in the Nu State for lunatics? It would be well the policy-holders of this old company, in the West and South, to cancel same and reinsure with as good companies in their own section who do not entertain such crazy and outlandish views. Of course it is understood that this is done for an effect, not that the President of the com pany believes one word of this silly scare crow nonsense.

There has been no outcry on the part of policy holders for the gold standard. Policy holders will be contented if their beneficiaries are paid in money of the constitution, such as was current prior to 1873 and was good enough for their fathers. They know that these dollars will be interchangeable and on a parity, and that every such dollar will purchase its full value of any desired commodity. They are not frightened by the scarecrows set up by managers who look upon insurance companies rather as instruments for exacting usury, than as bodies organized for mutual protection against the assaults of poverty.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Bohle, the local managers of the Western Union Telegraph Company, should give their immediate and serious attention to what, on the face of it, is a plain case of treachery on the part of one or more of their employes. The Republic publishes this morning what purport to be private telegrams exchanged over a Western Union leased wire, between Mr. Bryan, at Lincoln, and Senator Jones and Gov. Stone at St. Louis. The narrative in which the telegrams are imbedded shows that the information was obtained from someone connected with the St. Louis office. From any point of view it has an ugly look. If "leaking" has begun already, the managers of the Democratic campaign should take notice that the telegraph lines are in the hands of the enemy, and that what are declared by law to be confidential ommunications are liable to become common property through the newspapers.

MR. TOWNE'S WARNING.

In the striking and impressive speech at Saturday night's ratification meeting by Congressman Towne of Minnesota, he warned the friends of silver not to underestimate the power and the resources of their antagonists. It must be realized from the outset, he said, that they are cunning, wealthy and unscrupulous, and that they have under their control and at their command the most powerful agencies that usually influence public opinion -namely, the great monetary institutions, the manufacturers, the corporations, and the metropolitan newspapers. Of all these, the latter need most to be guarded against. They can accomplish little with their arguments, because these are already discounted in the minds of the people—they are discredited before they speak. Their really damaging work will be done much more insidiously, by coloring the news, by magnifying one side of the campaign and belittling the study. The Post-Dispatch gave an example the other day of how this is done. The mass meeting to ratify the Democratic ticket in Boston was the most noteworthy and surprising political gathering that has been held in Faneuil Hall in twenty years. Not a word about it came west of the Alleghenies, and there were only meager references to it in the New York newspapers. The ratification meeting Saturday night in Grand Music Hall was the biggest and most enthusiastic political meeting ever held in St. Louis. The two morning newspapers in St. Louis gave less space and prominence to it than they have been giving to the little gathhold a rump convention.

This is, the way it will be throughout the campaign. But the voters have their remedy in this matter. They should assume that any statement they see in probably false, and let it go at that.

REFORMER FILLEY AGAIN.

The Post-Dispatch recently congratulated Mr. Filley upon his great victory for civil service reform over the Walbridge "spoilsmen" at Springfield. Our ommendation of Mr. Filley as a civil service reformer was as earnest as it was

Mr. Filley does nothing by halves. His reform work at Springfield was not confined to defeating the "pernicious activ oney when the power is given to the intook a great stride toward the purification of elections in St. Louis. This gives creditors the right Republican member of the Board of Elecgold was the only kind of money they the suggestions of the members of the tion Commissioners, who announces that Republican City Central Committee as to Republican Judges and Clerks of Election will be given no more weight than those of other Republicans. Heretofore the Committeemen have controlled such appointments absolutely, but under the new law Mr. Saunders has the right to ignore their recommendations. It has been charged that Mr. Filley has prostituted election machinery to control results. Sometimes he has been accused of colonizing negro voters for the pur pose of defeating Democrats. At other times he has been charged with collusion with Ed Butler for counting certain Demprincipally in the closing of the mints to He has answered all these charges by ocrats in and certain Republicans out was the basic principle of our bimetallic ery. There is not the slightest doubt that if Filley had supported Walbridge Walbridge would have left Filley's Cen-tral Committee in control of the appoint. ment of Judges and Clerks. In deliberately turning his back upon such a temptation Mr. Filley dealt a crushing blow at "spoils politics" and gave a tremendous impetus to election reform. Thus do the retributions of politica

Civil Service? I am very truly yours, There was no intention on the part of the framers of the platform to deal with the question of the tenure of United States Judges. The Federal constitution provides that "the judges, both of the Supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their office during good behavior." And the writer of the platform was perfectly well aware that the platform of a national convention cannot change the con-

As yet no official copy of the platform adopted at Chicago has been put forth.

The original is in the possession of the official stenographer of the convention, who is now writing out its proceedings for publication. Senator James K. Jones, Chairman of the Platform Committee, informs the Post-Dispatch that no absolutely correct copy of the platform has yet been printed. He also informs the Post-Dispatch that the plank referred to by Dr. Snyder was amended by the committee before it was reported, so as to read as follows:

We are opposed to life tenure in the public service, except as otherwise provided in the Constitution. We favor appointments based upon merit, fixed terms of office, and such an administration of the civil service laws as will afford equal opportunities to all citizens

It is obvious that what the framers of the platform had in view in writing this section was the employes of the various departments of the executive branch of the Government who come under the operations of the civil service laws.

Had there not been abuses, the uprising which is now so glibly called a "craze" would not have come. There is a cause for everything, and the political party that sells itself to the monopolies and other greedy interests is certain to be called to account some day, be the delay ever so long.

Goldbug "Logic" Punctured.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In the Globe-Democrat of July 23 appears In the Globe-Democrat of July 23 appears an editorial which says "The logic of the silver situation is well given in a statistical table from the United States Mint-giving the annual production of gold and silver in the United States from 189 to 1894."

From the Globe-Democrat gold standard standpoint of logic I would like to know why silver did not increase in value to $1,302.90 per ounce between 1819 and 1857, or why gold did not depreciate in value at that ratio? There was 1,010 times more gold than silver produced in the United States in that period.

Why did gold and silver remain at comparatively the same ratio from 1857 to 1894? There was four times more gold than silver produced in the United States in that period.

An Unsafe Officer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am a policy-holder in the Connecticut
Mutual Life Insurance Company, and I have J. am a policy-holder in the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, and I have hitherto supposed President Greene of that company to be an honest man. But since he has issued a pronunclamento, in which he declares that in the event of a victory for free coinage the policy-holders of his company will be paid in dollars worth only 50 cents, "and the great bulk of them probably in dollars not worth more than from 25 cents to 35 cents." I have lost confidence in him. It looks very much like a scheme to so work upon the fears of his policy-holders as to get them to surrender their policies for 50 cents on the dollar-just as railroad presidents have been known to cry down the prospects of their roads, in order to frighten stockholders into selling at a loss, when said presidents promptly, buy in. Some railroad presidents have even been known to wreck their companies for their personal advantage. That Mr. Greene should voluntarily put himself in such company shows him to be an unsafe man for the place, and the policy-holders in the Connecticut Mutual should unite in a demand for his resignation.

Mr. Greene knows that the policy-holders of his company will be paid, if free coinage wins the present fight, in dollars just as good as those which piled up the magnificent assets of the concern. He knows that with free coinage the vast real estate investments of the company will steadily rise in value. He knows that in making such a statement as that in his recent letter to his policy-holders he has been false to his trust. I hope that no one of these polic-ho.ders will be scared by the threat into surrendering his policy for less than its full value.

the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. The Chicago Tribune declares that the present campaign is to be "a record-breakmittee, passed through St. Louis Monday and election for the gold standard. Their policy, imposed upon the nation, has already doubled the purchasing power of the millions they hold. If McKinley can be elected it will be doubled again. With so much depending on the issue, what wonder that they propose spending money like water to carry the day?

In view of the fact that nearly all great moneyed institutions and money-lenders of all degrees are working for the gold standard, how puerile and "meaningless is the talk of theirs being a campaign of "resistance to the greed of the silver barons." The combined wealth of all the so-called silver barons is but a drop in the bucket as compared with that of the goldbugs. And a large number of the "silver barons" are gold miners as well and indifferent to the issue now agitating the people.

In the kind of fighting where dollars are the weapons to be used by the enemy the silver men are at a disadvantage. They cannot go into the market for the votes that are for sale to the highest bidder. The gold men have that market under their control.

But silver men are strong in the righteousness of their cause. They believe that the awakened intelligence of the people will count for more in determining the issue than all the wealth of their adversaries; and they laugh to scorn the announcements of the millions of soiled gold being heaped up to crush the movement-daily gathering the power of an avalancher for the restoration of free colinage.

BANKER'S PEAR

Organization of the Financial Pool Which Will Keep Gold in This Country.

NEW YORK, July 28.-Referring to th lan to check gold exports devised by the committee of foreign bankers and manipulation agreed to by the members of that committee, the Herald this morning says:

committee, the Herald this morning says:

The attitude of the bankers toward these customers, it is said, will be to simply assure them that there will be an abundant super ply of bills in the market at low rates. Though discounting their own paper and the exchange rates at a figure that will make gold exportation an expensive transaction.

Although officials of the banks who deposited with the sub-treasury to restore the reserve disclaim any connection with the foreign bankers, it generally was admitted that the success of the one was made dependent upon the action of the others. Many of the bank presidents would not have paid in their gold had they not been assured that the foreign houses would arrange some plan whereby the metal might be retained in the country. They saw no use in paying it into the treasury if it was to be as promptly withdrawn, and in consequence the foreign bankers' action was a necessity.

ing it into the treasury is it was to be as promptly withdrawn, and in consequence the foreign bankers' action was a necessity.

There has been considerable discussion as to the amount of exchange that will be necessary to tide over the interval of depression resulting from the agitation of the election. It may be $15,000,000, and it may and probably will be more.

While the period considered necessary to make provision for its set down at 60 days, it is understood that it the supply of cotton and grain bills in the market be not sufficient to adjust affairs within that time, then the pool will continue in operation for a longer period.

The workings of the syndicate will, of course, entail inconvenience upon individual members, and possibly to some loss of profits. The latter, it is sa'd, will be borne pro rata among the members. The firms that will manage the pool, or, as it will be called, the clearing house for exchange, are J. P. Morgan & Co., August Belmont & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., Kahn, Loeb & Co., and Lazard Freres. Brooklyn banks will fall into line to-day in the effort to maintain the reserve inaugurated by New York and joined in by Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

Another New York paper presents this view of the situation:

Before the pool was organized the leading bankers in the exchange business bought all the exchange bills in the market, in anticipation of a rise. There was no legitimate demand for exchange at that time, but bills were offered at a slight advance over recent rates and the speculative houses took them up, believing the time opportune for a Treasury raid and a panic.

It is understood that the pool controls about $3,00,000 of exchange at that time, but to cover the sales of exchange at that of the operation is of interest as demonstrating the ease with which a few bankers can deplete the Treasury. When his $3,00,000 in exchange was sold there was no demand for it and the purchasers acquired the bills in pursuance of a sort of general understanding that it would be a good thin

With him will come his magnificent court and retinus, to which will be added every nobleman acknowledging his sway in St. Louis, constituting in its entirety one of the most varied and sorgeous daylight parades ever seen in the City of St. Louis. This event will inaugurate the fall carnival season, and will present many novel, surprising and burlesque features.

Work was begun on the development of the parade some months ago, and the officers of the M. O. F. F. are ambitious to turn out one of the handsomest daylight processions ever seen even in Rome or Venice. Neither pains or money will be spared to that end. The young men who have the matter in charge desire to impress on the people of the city the importance of the organization as a civic factor, as well as its value to St. Louis. Statistics gathered from the railroads last year and the year before, showed that the King Hotu parade brought 40,000 visitors to St. Louis each year. The order expects to exceed these figures this coming fall.

Printed matter is in course of preparation and will be scattered far and wide by the railroads. In its entertaining and laughable features, the public will be given much that is apt and that deals with contemporary events and persons, and in all respects the parade will be better costumed, better arranged and superior in every way to its predecessors.

AFRAID OF PUBLIC OPINION.

The Pharisaical Magnates Do Not Invite Public Scrutiny-Breitenstein as a Pitcher.

Special to the Post-Dispatch WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.-Evidently President Robison of the Cleveland Club has carried his point. Many of the League magnates are now urging that Tebeau's fine be not collected until the end of the season, and that it then come up at the December meeting of the League directors.
President Robison is showing a letter from President Nick Young, in which Mr. Young says that he has advised the directors not to fine Tebeau until his side of the case has been heard. Wagner of Washington says that he believes it will be beneficial says that he believes it will be beneficial to the game to settle the Tebeau case out of court. Mr. Wagner says he knows that Tebeau will not be blacklisted, and that no attempt will be made to collect the fine until the case is again heard before a base ball tribunal. Dr. I. Hunt Stuckey of Louisville says he thinks the Tebeau case should go over until December. This removes the base ball sensation of the year from present consideration. It also shows again the caliber of Robison as a strategic fighter. It further shows that the League magnates will sacrifice almost anything to keep their innermost affairs from the public, and it shows that when Mr. Robison gave it out that he would bring several sable men from several woodpiles his threat was not in vain, as he knew the tender spot.

"Who is or was the greatest left-handed pitcher you ever saw?" queried Donahue of sapient Captain-Manager considered The sapient Captain-Manager considered carefully.

"Well," he said, at length, "Tom Ramsey was a great left-handed pitcher, and I think that as far as actual sending of the ball to a batter goes he was the best I ever saw. But he could not field or bat a lick. Matt Kliroy was another great man, who was a left-hander. He could but well, and fielded almost perfectly. I never saw a man could hold a runner so close to first base. Why, with Kliroy in the box, you had to keep your foot on the bag all the time.

'Nobody who has not played behind Breit can appreciate his worth. I have been with him for four years now, and I tell you I never saw a man who can pitch with him save one—Rusie. And Rusie, you know, is in a class by himself. He is a giant, while Breit is only a little fellow.

'I have seen Breit pitch championship ball with an amateur team behind him. All his life he has pitched for a tail-end team, yet to-day there is not a pitcher in the country whose release would sell for more money. Nobody but a ball player knows what a disadvantage it is to play with a losing team, especially for a pitcher. If Breit was with any first division team he would be, beyond all cavil, the greatest pitcher in the country.

'He has been campaligned harder than any man in the husiness. For three years he has led the League in number pitched. Last year he invariably pitched two out of every three games played, and for a long time played the odd game in the field. For three seasons he has pitched from five to ten more games than any first-class pitcher in the League, and that with a broken up team behind him.

''As far as fielding his position goes Breit is without a peer. Being left-handed he is at a big disadvantage on bunts, but he gets them to first faster than any pitcher I know of. He is a good batter and a orking base runner.

The trouble with them is that when he is slated to pitch they go out to the park dead sure of seeing us win. If we are beaten the disappointment is more than they can stand. If any one of the other players loses a good game the people applaud them. They think they are doing well. From them they think they are doing well. Louisville yesterday, and the Browns Louisville yesterday, and the Browns won easily, by a score of 6 to 3. George Miller and Jack Crooks, two St. Louis favorites, played with the Colonels and did nicely. Crooks has strengthened the team very perceptibly, and the club seems steadler and better balanced since he joined it. Jack can play second base all round O'Brien, the man for whom he was traded by Washington. Dexter, the young Louisville catcher, is one of the wonders of the year. With Hill he constitutes the "boy battery." Both ends of it are young country lads, who came up into the League from the amateur ranks of Tennessee, and more than held their own with the best of them.

Bert Harding's finish in the mile lap race was one of the finest bits of riding seen on the Pastime track in many a day. Harding is at present riding in better form than over those things as we players do. The root of the stand is not as good a place from which to see a play as the middle of the diamond.

"I'vo seen Breitenstein hold teams like Boston, Chicago, Baitimore and Cleveland down to five and six hits, but he lost, because we could not help him at the bat.

"He has all the speed and curves he ever had, and is sitching better ball now than he ever did. If all the pitchers in the country were herded together, and I was given my canise. I'd grab Breitenstein's red head first, Wouldn't you, Dunny?" to Donahue.

"You bet." said the red-headed Irishman. "Ano, say? Did you ever see anybody have wonderful. He's fuller of sand than a turkey's craw."

"Yes, said Dowd. "He's got pluck like the devil, and when he quits St. Louis a want to go with him."

"Me, too," said Monte Cross, as he raced for a car bound parkwards.

CINCINNATI SERIES.

Tuck Turner is suffering from the sore shin which he had spiked in the Philadelphia game. It caused him agony to play yesterday being amounted by late. He was game, and stayed in the palm when his bed. His batting was immense yesterday, but the sore leg interfered with his base running and fielding.

Boston wants to try Capt. Dowd, and has offered Mr. Von der Ahe his own price for him. Chris would not sell. Monte Cross is playing as good a game as any shortstop in the League. His fielding has a sink, and he is getting his daily hits. His bunting has become a feature of the Browns' games, and the crowd always looks to him for a hit or at least an advance on the bases.

Tom Parrott is keeping up his batting streak. He got three hits yesterday. His fielding has improved of late.

Roger Connor was a little off yesterday on first, but he batted well. That drive into the lake was a beauty, but there were one or two hits which he should have cut down.

Joe Sullivan did not play yesterday. He the lake was a beauty, but there were one or two hits which he should have cut down.

Joe Sullivan did not play yesterday. He is a very sick man. Malaria is his ailment. The team missed him greatly, and it is to be hoped that he will be able to accompany it in the Eastern trip.

Long John Healy arrived in the city yesterday John looks better and younger than he ever did in his life. He has secured his long-sought and much-wished for release from Minneapolis, but it took him two years to do it. He will leave for Indianapolis to-morrow, and will finish the season with the Western League champions.

George Miller is still a popular favorite in St. Louis None of them gets a warmer reception here than "Old Doggy."

Frazer is quite a pitcher. St. Louis could have drafted him last fall. Long John Healy recommended him to Chris Von der Ahe. He was let slip to Louisville.

Catcher Dexter thought he had thrown Cross out at second yesterday, and when Beits declared him safe he knelt down at the plate and prayed in holy horror. His suppliant attitude cost him file. Betts must be a heathen, as well as a bad umpire.

weeds and all other nuisances. Half of his time is spent in court prosecuting cases. You can see how hard pushed we are. With the weed bill and the dairy bill more work has been created for the department, and it must be done.

"It is urged as an argument that the department never got as much money before. In answer to that I will say that the work was never done before. As to politics, my men are worth as much to me now for that purpose as they were before the Springfield convention."

to scream, and too weak to assist her mother.

A policeman turned the corner a block south and came walking slowly up the street, twirling his club and mopping the perspiration from his brow.

Lempkemeyer saw him and ran, leaving his victim unconscious on the sidewalk.

Mrs. Lang was sent to the City Dispensary in an ambulance and Dr. Newcomb revived her from the comatose state in which she was.

She was suffering from a severe concussion of the brain, besides a score of abrasions and bruises about her body and head. Her daughter could attend to her at home, she said, and so the injured woman was taken to the Tenth street house in an ambulance. Her condition is critical. Lempkemeyer has not yet been arrested.

A discourager of affection, or rather of the demonstration of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and billous headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a perfect remedy for this most common of all troubles. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. They are very mild in their action, and act without any violence whatever. In this, they are different from many preparations offered for a similar purpose. Sometimes the remedy is worse than the disease, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are mild, but they are infallibly efficient. They do the work which they are intended to do, without deranging the system in any way. They not only give immediate relief, but the penefit derived from them is permanent. You can stop taking them by and by and there is no danger that you will become a slave to their use. The druggist who tries to sell you something else "just as good," either does not know what he is talking about, or he makes more money on the other thing. If you care more for his prosperity than you do for your own health, take the other thing. If you care more for his prosperity than you do for your value your health, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. A free sample, of from 4 to 7 doses, will be sent free on receipt of twenty-one (21) cents in one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only.

Mr. Dupree, who runs the Warner Pharmacy at Bridgeport, Connecticut, says that he has Tabules among the traveling salesmen who visit Bridgeport. It is becoming quite the practice with commercial travelers to keep a supply of the Tabules in the grip. Hasty meals and continual riding in joiting railroad trains do tend to bring on indigestion. "They have helped me a good deal," one of these men was recently heard to say. They all say that after an evening session with jack pots, tobacco and whisky, nothing clears the head so early in the morning as a Ripans Tabule taken just before going to bed, however late the retiring hour may have been. One Gives Relief.

Fatal Accident to Little Robert Gru-ner While Flying a Kite on His House Top.

Robert Gruner, the 13-year-old son of August Gruner, living at 10 Nicholson place, fell from the roof of the residence at 6 Nicholson place, at 10 o'clock Tuesforty feet below. His skull was fractured forty feet below. His skull was fractured so badly that he died half an hour later. He had been flying a kite from the roof of his own home and had crossed over the roofs of the other houses. They adjoin each other and are about the same level. The boy was running backward on the roof of No. 6, holding the string to his kite, which was high up in the air. He did not watch where he was going and tumbled backwards over the front cornice. He was carried into his home, and within a half hour died.

OFF TO THE POOR-HOUSE.

An Unyielding Official Increases the When Tobias Mitchell, Secretary of the Health Commissioner, once makes up his mind the prayers and tears of all the guinea pigs in the world won't move him.

When he opened his desk Tuesday morn-when he opened his desk Tuesday morning there was an expression of stern resolution on his McKinleyesque countenance. He raised the top of his desk slowly, but firmily and then sat down on his official chair. "Write," he said in firm, even accents to his good-locking typewriter.

She took up her shorthand book, nibbled the end of her pencil, and the Secretary proceeded.

"William C. Teichman, City Chemist:

"Dear Sir: You are hereby notified to remove without delay from the premises of the City Chemist's Department to the Poorhouse, the collection of 40, more or less, guinea pigs. Respectfully,

"TOBIAS MITCHELL,

This important document having been duly "typewrit," the stenographer was given a moment to wipe a tear from the corner of her eye, and the remorseless Secretary proceeded:

"Write!"

"J. L. Overbeck, Supt. Poor-House:

"Dear Sir: You will receive with this communication a consignment of 40, more or less, guinea pigs from the Chemist of the city. Use your best endeavors to promote the comfort and happiness of these, your wards. They have been tenderly nurtured. Make this matter your especial duty. Yours respectfully,

TOBIAS MITCHELL,

"Secretary."

Having Sisposed of this important matter, Secretary Mitchell gazed sadly upon the counterfeit presentment of Silent Cyrus framed in crepe, which hung over his desk. The pretty typewriter swallowed a sob and fed a few files to her pet turtle to hide

MRS. PAHL'S WOES.

MRS. PAHL'S WOES.

She Alleges That Her Husband Tore Her Dress Off Her.

Mrs. Josephine Pahl secured a warrant charging her husband, Christopher, with assault and battery. Mrs. Pahl says that four years ago, when she was a widow with three children, she married Pahl, who had four children and who conducted a saloon at 5800 Old Manchester road. She had considerable property and turned most of it over to him and went to live over his saloon. Several weeks ago he asked her for the rest of her property and she refused to give it to him. Since then they have quarreled. Last Friday, she says, he drove all of the children out of the house and told them he would kill them if they returned. She took them to a neighbor's house where she and they remained over night and in the morning went back to get her clothes when he attacked her and tore her dress off.

With the assistance of neighbors she secured her clothing and then took her children to the home of her parents at 3229 Missouri avenue, where she is now living.

MARRIED ON THE QUIET.

Now the Secret Is Out, the Mesters Will Go to Housekeeping.

Head Train Caller Frederick W. Mester at Union Station, and Miss Emma M. Mor-rison of 821A South Eighteenth street, rison of 821A South Eighteenth street, daughter of Robert Morrison, retired merchant, went to Clayton Monday and were married On returning to St. Louis Mrs. Mester went to the home of her parents and explained she had been calling on friends. At noon Tuesday Mrs. Mester's parents learned of the marriage and at once became reconciled to the inevitable.

Mr. and Mrs. Mester had intended to keep the marriage a secret until the fall, when they contemplated going to house-keeping. Now that it has become known, they will go to housekeeping at once.

WALL STREET DEMOCRATS.

The Committee of Seven Encouraged to Call a Meeting. The Wall Street Democrats of Missou

will hold a meeting in this city Thursday to discuss their proposed campaign against the Democratic ticket.

the Democratic ticket.

The Committee of Seven, which was named by Col. Broadhead some weeks ago, has received replies from country members who believe in upholding the interests of Wall Street in sufficient numbers to authorize a call for Thursday.

If the headquarters in room 7, Wells' Building, now being fitted up, are ready at that time the meeting will probably be held there. Col. Broadhead will call it to order and the gold standard Democrats will then proceed to discuss their proposed campaign against Bryan and Sewall and the Democratic platform.

It is quite likely that the meeting will postpone acting finally until it knows what action is taken by the Indianapolis conference.

Mrs. Kraemer says that Monday night Lewis called on her daughter, Josephine, at her home and that while he was there she and Josephine had a quarrel. Her daughter swore at her and called her the most abusive names she could lay her tongue to.

Then Lewis, she says, took a hand in the quarrel and when she told him to attend to his own business he attacked her. She says that he threw her to the floor and then fell upon and beat her with his fats and that her daughter assisted him.

in the Post-Dispatch of Monday.

After examining carefully the reasons given by Judge Valliant for his decision, Mrs. Fischel said:

"It seems to have been a question of the form of the complaint and other technicalities. That, of course, rests upon the City Counselor, to whom we intrusted the prosecution.

"We undoubtedly conducted the trial with all fairness to Mr. Bristol. We listened carefully to all he had to say and to his witnesses. We devoted a great deal of time and labor to the case and performed what we thought was our duty.

"We cannot understand, therefore, why Judge Valliant takes the stand he does.

"I do not believe the trial of Mr. Bristol partock of the nature of a criminal prosecution, as Judge Valliant holds.

"That has not been my understanding of the law Under the charter I have always thought the Board of Charity Comm ssioners was required to give accused off cast trial, in order that hasty action might not be taken and an injustice done the accused. It seems to me that the law permits of the removal of an appointed officer for unofficial acts. The decision of Judge Valliant practically deprives the Board of its powers under the charter."

"The decision also declares that the formal information sgainst Bristol was indefinite," suggested the reporter.

"As I said," replied Mrs. Fischel, "that rests on Mr. Marshall. We necessarily depended upon him to comply with the legal requirements in the matter. I agree with Mr. Marshall that the matter should not be allowed to rest with this decision, but should be carried to a higher court.

"The decision is unfortunate. We did not undertake any action until we had reason to believe that the charges were well-founded. Matters had been brought to our notice and we investigated for ourselves before taking formal action. We visited the House of Refuge and found many of the things to exist that had been complained of.

"We, did not proceed against Bristol from any personal feeling. Bristol is nothing to me nor I to him. We were entirely free from prejudi
